THE VALUE OF RED HAT TRAINING

A smart investment toward an even smarter team.

“Customers recognize the quality of certifications. Whether they’re concerned about how we’ll handle potentially challenging scenarios, or whether we’ll configure their systems properly, they relax when they hear they’ll be working with Red Hat certified support professionals (RHCE). The fact that we have so many RHCEs on staff helps us demonstrate that we have the most skilled technicians and systems administrators in the industry.”

– Phil Hopkins,
Rackspace Hosting

Your IT staff is your most valuable asset. Their knowledge and skills determine the success of your technologies, which translate into the success of your business. Without a well-trained IT staff, you sacrifice performance and security and your organization won't fully reap the price and performance benefits of your Red Hat environment.

We've helped nearly two million students worldwide get the most out of their Red Hat® Linux® and JBoss® technologies. Our hands-on, task-focused courses and certifications give your team the skills they need to make real-world changes—better and faster. And since that knowledge comes from the source, you know it's the most relevant, current, and comprehensive education out there.

GIVE YOUR TEAM THE HIGHEST-QUALITY LINUX AND JBOSS EDUCATION POSSIBLE

- Prepare your staff for the real world with a hands-on, lab-based approach to learning that keeps them at their keyboard for as much as 80% of a course and maximizes the retention of skills they'll use every day.
- Put your team at the head of the Red Hat technology class with the largest Linux and JBoss curriculum team in the world, designed by product experts to help your staff in a variety of job roles.
- Ensure your staff's command of a particular subject with task-based certification exams built to demonstrate a student's true capabilities.
- Know your staff will be in the hands of the best in the business with certified instructors delivering courses for specific job functions they have experienced first-hand.

WAYS TO TRAIN

Whether you need to train a team of IT professionals or a few key individuals, Red Hat offers a variety of learning styles, delivery methods, certifications, savings programs, and customized solutions to maximize return on your Red Hat Enterprise Linux investment.

“After completing the JBoss Training class, I felt prepared and equipped to maximize our use of JBoss solutions and better understand, maintain, and troubleshoot our middleware environment.”

James Elkins, team lead for middleware, business intelligence and testing, OIR, State of Tennessee

“The practical, hands-on nature of Red Hat Training courses provided real value to the transition of our team’s skills to Linux. All of our system administrators are Red Hat Certified Engineers (RHCE).”

Vinod Kutty, associate director, Distributed Computing, CME Group

Red Hat classroom training

We offer more than 30 Red Hat Enterprise Linux and JBoss Enterprise Middleware courses taught in a standard classroom to both individuals and teams in more than 40 locations across North America.

In addition, many scheduled classroom courses are designated “Guaranteed to Run.” That means they won’t be canceled or rescheduled based on the number of attendees.
