Chicago - My kind of town

The Great Chicago Fire
October 8th, 1871
The story after the fire ....

The story of the Great Chicago Fire of 1871 isn’t really about the fire. It’s about what happened next:

A remarkable moment when the most brilliant engineers, architects and inventors came together to build a new city.

Their innovations – born of passion and practical ingenuity – shaped not just Chicago, but the modern world. What started 140 years ago continues to this day.
The Marble Track Hack attack is all about a simple marble that must successfully travel the track from start to finish in no more than 1m 30 sec. The marble must cross:

- At least four towers, 2.5 feet high
- At least six drops from one track to another
- Start at cup on the top of a tower
- End in the cup on the table
- At least 1 elevator per tower
- And yes, it’s OK to re-build anything!!

PRESS RELEASE

Red Hat Honors Instructors Who Champion Open Source Education in the U.S.

Twenty-one instructors recognized for incorporating open source into their academic work

It is not about who you are but how you think!
What happens when 25 Middle School girls get together?

They tell stories

Good things happen when we come together to create something new. Connections are formed. Discoveries are made. Fresh ideas emerge. And obstacles are overcome. That's why we believe that creative collaboration is the best way to make the world a better place—and to forge lasting friendships.

So, in partnership with the City of Boston, Boston After School & Beyond, Soledad Latina, and Boston University, we'll be teaching 25 of Boston's middle-school girls about the value of collaboration. From a Red Hat mobile CO-LAB trailer stationed at Boston's City Hall Plaza, we'll teach them how to build and code a digital camera from a Raspberry Pi computer kit. Then, they'll take their cameras out to capture what collaboration means to them.
