“The Red Hat Learning Subscription really helped prepare me for the Red Hat Certified System Administrator Certification Exam. Not only were there videos on each chapter, but there was a written version as well. The labs were a tremendous help for me since I am a very hands-on learner. I don’t think I would have been able to pass the test without using them to study.”

“I’ve learned that certification is important because of how the courses are structured and what is tested at the end. Knowing that people have to build the environment themselves as part of the exam ensures that they know how to do it. This is very valuable.”
